Howdy, Jack!

This message confirms your registration for the Undergraduate Research Scholars (URS) Symposium on Wednesday, February 26, 2025 in the Memorial Student Center. Below are details regarding your presentation and what to expect from the event:

Name(s): Jack Alagood, Kyle Bedrich, Ian Farrar

Individual or Team: Team

Presentation Type & Timeslot: POSTER: 2:30-3:30 PM CT

Presentation Room & Check-in Location: MSC 2300 C

Abstract Title: WBG Devices-Based Matrix Converter for 3-Phase AC to DC Conversion in Industrial Computing Applications

Faculty Advisor(s): Dr. Prasad N. Enjeti

NOTE: If you are presenting as a team, please forward this message to your teammates for their reference.

Who are you presenting to?

- Faculty, staff, post-docs, and graduate students have been invited to be Active Listeners and Moderators. They will provide feedback on your research projects and presentation skills. There is no guarantee that you will be presenting to an expert in your field, so all presentations should be understandable by a general audience.
- Undergraduate students from other programs will visit presentations throughout the day and are assigned reflection activities (they may be walking around taking notes on your presentations) to help them discover their own research interests and learn what research presentation venues look like.
- The event is free and open to the public! Feel free to invite your faculty advisor, professors, classmates, friends, and anyone else you'd like.

Who is giving you feedback?

Presentations at the URS Symposium will not be formally judged, and there are no prizes associated with the event. Remember that the purpose of these presentations is to help you improve your oral communication skills in a low-stakes environment. However, our Active Listeners have been asked to focus on the following three areas and provide helpful feedback as they interact with you during your presentation:

- 1.) Overall delivery of the presentation

- 2.) Effective communication of the research question and why it is important
- 3.) Effective visual aids (if used)

Check-in Instructions

- Go directly to your presentation location (listed above), tell our volunteers that you are a presenter, and provide your first and last name. Our volunteers will give you your nametag and a lanyard.
- You may arrive, check-in, and set-up for your presentation around 10 minutes before your presentation time.

Poster Presentation Instructions

- Poster presentations are 1 hour.
- You must be present at your poster for the entire hour.
- Active Listeners will visit your poster within the hour and may or may not identify themselves.
- Your poster number will be in the Abstract Book at <https://tx.ag/URSymposium> when it becomes available. It will also be provided to you at check-in on the day of the event.
- UGR will provide poster hanging materials (thumb tacks). Max poster size is 48" tall x 48" wide. Do not mount posters. You must remove your poster once the session is over.
- Plan to print your poster as soon as possible. UGR staff have a limited number of vouchers where you can print your poster for free in the Langford Building using the College of Architecture print center services. Email ugr@tamu.edu with your poster size and your availability to pick up the voucher at our office when you are ready to print. Max poster size for vouchers is 40" tall x 48" wide.
- Outlets and chairs will not be available.
